

After I was born-again at age 45, I was trying to follow a path for God, but really I was just studying the precepts of the Bible. I kept coming up short in faith, following ministries that teach the Law but talk about grace to sound good. Under the law you always lose hope. Hope is kept strong in the grace of God, giving you a heart to study the great gift of grace. Classic Christianity is one of the few books that will keep you strong in God's work - the real truth! It opened up my heart for the real true and holy God.

Alex, South Carolina